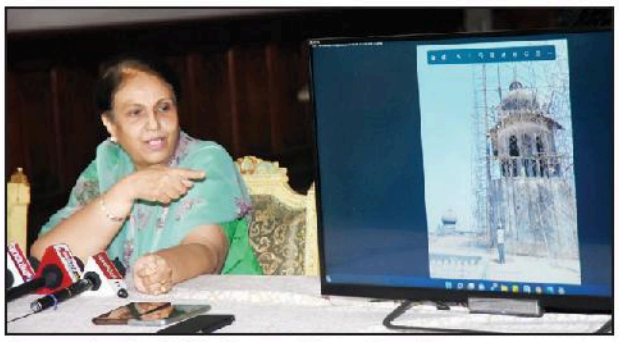
Rajendra Vilas Palace back as hotel soon

Renovation of iconic structure atop Chamundi Hill in full swing



Pramoda Devi Wadiyar addressing the press meet at the Mysore Palace this morning.

Mysuru, Apr. 6 (RK&BCT)- The iconic Rajendra Vilas Palace atop Chamundi Hill will soon regain its lost glory where the Kings and Queens, Viceroys and Ambassadors wined and dined. End-to-end and top-to-bottom renovation works are in full swing and once completed, the structure will be run as a hotel like earlier.

Giving details to newsmen about the project at the residential wing of the Mysore Palace this morning, member of erstwhile Mysore royal family Pramoda Devi Wadiyar said that the restoration works began five to six months ago and an expert team from Tamil Nadu is carrying out the works. The restoration has been initiated by His Highness Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar (SDNR) Foundation.

Giving a 360-degree view of the renovation works through a laptop connected to a big screen, Pramoda Devi, accompanied by her Private Secretary M. Lakshminarayan, said that the structure has five domes including the one at the centre and four at the sides. It has 22 rooms and it is 120 feet from the ground. "We are aiming to complete the renovation by Dasara and once refurbished, the Palace will be run as a hotel like it was before," she said.

The most difficult part is renovating the domes of Rajendra Vilas Palace, she said displaying the actual works slide-by-slide on her computer. Rajendra Vilas was built in the 1820s during the reign of Mummadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar and it stands on a 65-acre property.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

MAKE YOUR LIFE COUNT: As I turn 72, I recall a quote my mother considered sensible, to mull over as we get older... Count your life by smiles not tears, count your age by friends, not years! Outstandingly appropriate I felt, considering the mountainous showers of goodwill I receive from family and friends, far and near! My family falls in the category of "people's persons."

During my parents' lifetime, communication was through the dial-up telephone, postal greetings and of course umpteen visitors, more so on special occasions. It was taken for granted that all were welcome! The family was roped in to prepare culinary offerings. Gaiety and laughter abounded as we were thrilled to cut the cakes, blow out the candles and sing 'Happy Birthday'! Thereby, teamwork, caring and sharing was a lesson ingrained.

Currently, the COVID situation limits physical contact. But even otherwise, with social media and other daily pressures of living in a terribly fast-moving world overtaking 'face-to-face' meetings as frequently as we did in our younger days, instant connection through artificial intelligence still provides a plethora of opportunities to communicate. It may be sharing a thought, a call, a wish, a prayer, a visual greeting, even gifting via a courier...

We can't match meeting in person, spontaneous chatting, sharing a hug, but we can still make our lives count by using our talents to smile more and whine less as we age, using them instead to motivate ourselves and others towards creating contentment. Counting our blessings through the experiences of decades prompts us to be both grateful and giving.

World's first wearable AC collar

Venice: The Metaura Pro claims to be the world's first wearable air-conditioning (AC) device capable of constantly blowing cold air to keep the wearer cool.

Conventional wearable cooling systems only circulate ambient air and thus don't do a very good job of cooling people down. The Metaura Pro, on the other hand, allegedly relies on a portable cooling solution to produce genuinely cold air that is 7 degrees Fahrenheit cooler than that of the ambient, in fan mode and up to 18 degrees Fahrenheit cooler than ambient air, in cooling mode. The device has a dedicated app and relies on artificial intelligence to regulate air temperature.

It is powered by a twin-turbo PWM motor and cooling modules that wrap around the wearer's neck and dissipate heat. The motor is linked to a high-speed fan at the back of the device, which also dissipates some of that warm air around the neck.

A medical facility literally for the birds

Qatar: Souq Waqif is a state-of-the-art hospital in Doha Qatar, where 150 patients are treated every day. Only patients here all have feathers, as Souq Waqif is a hospital for falcons.

Keeping the birds in the best possible physical shape is considered an essential duty by those who choose to keep and train falconids and many of them spare no expense doing it. So it's really no wonder that Souq Waqif is better equipped and staffed than many human hospitals in some of the world's most developed countries. Everything, from the shiny glass doors to the comfortable sofas of the waiting room, lets you know that falcons are the most revered animals in Qatar.

MCC property tax collection: QR code scan not working

Sir,

The Mysuru City Corporation's (MCC) online tax collection system appears to be streamlined compared to the problems faced last year. But there are many shortcomings in the whole scheme adapted by MCC.

Last year to provide fool-proof system, MCC officials visited door-to-door, took residence pictures from all angles, collected owner's pictures, Khata papers, building plans and issued a sticker with PID code and QR scan enabled.

We were informed that from 2022 onwards, while paying property tax one has to scan the QR code, and all details will appear. Paying property tax is cake walk. This statement appeared short-lived, as when I scanned QR code nothing happened.

To pay property tax, one had to visit MCC website for needful. On typing PID number one finds no picture is uploaded in the site. Were we promised a fool-proof system? If yes, where is it? Will MCC Commissioner answer this query?

Udupi Police arrest ATM skimmers

Accused brought to Mysuru for spot mahazar

Mysuru, Apr. 6 (GA&KS)- Three persons, who used to install skimmer equipment in ATMs and siphon off customers' money have been arrested by Udupi Police. The accused were brought to Mysuru yesterday by the Police, who conducted spot mahazar.

The Cyber Crime Police of Udupi, who brought the three accused to city, took them to Tamilnad Mercantile Bank Ltd. (TMBL) on Narayana Shastry Road and another Bank, where they conducted spot mahazar.

An Udupi-based man, who had come to city on Mar. 21, had withdrawn cash from the ATM next to TMBL on Narayana Shastry Road. When the man left Mysuru and reached Udupi, he received a message of cash being withdrawn from his account and immediately lodged a complaint with Udupi Police.

The Police, who registered a case, arrested three persons in this regard at Kasargod and interrogated them. All the three accused were later brought to Mysuru and spot mahazar was conducted by the Udupi Police. It is learnt that the accused, who used to manufacture the skimmer equipment at Kasargod and Mangaluru, used to install the equipment at ATMs in Mysuru, Bengaluru, Madikeri, Udupi, Mangaluru and other districts of the State and used to collect every information including the Debit card PIN of customers, who had withdrawn cash from ATMs where these skimmer equipment were installed by sitting in Kasargod, clone the debit cards and siphon off money from various bank accounts.

"We have never seen such a scam in our Bank or ATMs. This is the first time such an incident has taken place. We have provided all information to the Udupi Police and we are co-operating with them," said Shivu, Manager, Tamilnad Mercantile Bank Ltd.

DDPI places imposter teacher under suspension

One more teacher suspended for sending lewd messages to student

Lakshmane Gowda

Mysuru, Apr. 6 (BCT)- A man who worked as a teacher by using his deceased brother's educational qualification certificates at Kattemalalavadi Higher Primary School near Hunsur has been placed under suspension. He was arrested earlier for the crime.

Lakshmane Gowda served as a teacher in a Government School for 24 years and this had not come to light despite him being on routine transfers. He had used his brother Lokesh Gowda's certificates and claimed himself to be Lokesh Gowda. Lokesh had passed away soon after he had got the appointment letter for the teacher's post and could not join duty.

Instead, Lakshmane Gowda posed as Lokesh Gowda and reported for work. He managed to hoodwink the Education Department and fellow teachers at various Schools. However, this fraud came to light last month.

Now, the Deputy Director of Public Instruction (DDPI) Ramachandra Raje Urs has issued orders placing Lakshmane Gowda under suspension. As the case is in the Court of law, a departmental enquiry is also being conducted.

"As he is considered a Government employee, action will be taken as per procedures. A notice has been served and he will be dismissed after inquiry. Also the Department has sought legal opinion to prove to the Court that he is an imposter," the DDPI told reporters.

One more teacher suspended

The DDPI has also suspended a Physical Education (PE) teacher — pending inquiry — who has been accused of sending lewd messages to a girl student who studied in class 8. The student's family has registered a complaint with the Bettadapura Police Station against Nityananda Patigar, a PE teacher at Bhuvanahalli Government High School accusing the teacher for sending sexually explicit messages to the girl student. The girl confided about the harassment from the teacher to a male relative who also studies in the same school. The boy discussed the issue with his friends and later confronted the teacher about his behaviour

The girl's family stated in their Police complaint that on Mar. 25, Nityananda Patigar allegedly called the boy to his chamber, assaulted him, and threatened to rusticate if he revealed the issue to anyone. The humiliated boy attempted to end his life over depression, the complaint stated.

Tree falls near SP Office: Many vehicles damaged

Mysuru, Apr. 6 (GA&KS)- As many as four vehicles including Police vehicles were damaged when a huge tree fell on them near the Office of the Superintendent of Police (SP) yesterday evening.

The tree, which got uprooted at about 5.30 pm, fell on the vehicles which were parked near the tree resulting in three Police vehicles and a Maruti Baleno car (KA-09-MC-8406) getting damaged. Luckily, no one was injured in the incident.

Meanwhile, Mahesh, the owner of the Baleno car summoned a private crane and got his car removed from under the tree. The Police vehicles were removed later.

Miscreant sets fire to two cars

Mysuru, Apr. 6 (RK&KS)- Two cars that were parked outside the house were torched by a miscreant in the wee hours of Monday at Raghavendranagar in city. Both the cars are said to be owned by one Surendra and a CCTV has captured a miscreant pouring petrol and setting the cars on fire.

Surendra has suspected the involvement of a person of the same locality behind the incident, but has not lodged a complaint at the jurisdictional Police Station.

Meanwhile, Nazarbad Inspector Srikanth said that though they had received the information, neither the owner of the cars nor others have lodged a complaint and hence no case has been registered in this regard.

Portion of the top of both cars have been damaged due to the fire and it is suspected that someone known to the owners of the car and having personal enmity may have committed the crime.

City sculptor presents Netaji's miniature statue to Prime Minister Modi

PM tweets and appreciates Arun Yogiraj's exceptional sculpture

Mysuru, Apr. 6 (BCT)- City sculptor Arun Yogiraj, who had carved the 12-feet 3D statue of Adi Shankaracharya in sitting posture and was unveiled by Prime Minister Narendra Modi at Kedarnath Temple in Uttarakhand last year, had the biggest moment of his life of personally meeting Modi at his office in New Delhi yesterday.

The meeting took place at 11.30 am where Arun presented a two-feet tall monolithic statue of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose. The meeting with the PM was facilitated by Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha and Union Minister Pralhad Joshi.

The statue, carved with black schist (Krishna Shile), depicts a saluting Bose holding a sword. Arun took one month to carve it. Receiving the little statue, the PM tweeted, "Glad to have met Arun Yogiraj today, Grateful to him for sharing this exceptional sculpture of Netaji Bose." The PM appreciated Arun's natural bond with art.

Mysuru-based sculptor Arun Yogiraj presenting Netaji's miniature statue to Prime Minister Modi at New Delhi yesterday.

Speaking to Star of Mysore from New Delhi, Arun Yogiraj said it was a memorable experience with the Prime Minister. "The PM recalled how impressive the Adi Shankaracharya statue was and was glad for the Netaji statue. It was a brief but fruitful meeting," he recalled.

"In fact, in November last year, after the PM dedicated the Adi Shankaracharya statue in Uttarakhand, the Prime Minister's Office (PMO) had told me that Modi has expressed his wish to meet me in person. However, the meeting could not take place till now. The meeting happened yesterday, thanks to our MP Pratap Simha," Arun said.

When asked why he had carved Netaji's miniature statue, Arun said, "The statue idea germinated in my mind as soon as the PM announced that the India Gate will have a 30-ft statue of Bose. I wanted to showcase my talent to the PM."

After Arun Yogiraj met the Prime Minister, MP Pratap Simha and his family — wife Arpitha Simha and daughter Vipanchi Simha — along with Pralhad Joshi met the PM. Arun Yogiraj too was present where they exchanged pleasantries. The PM also presented some chocolates to Vipanchi.

PM Modi invited to Mysuru for Yoga Day celebrations

Prime Minister Narendra Modi seen with Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha, his wife Arpitha Simha, daughter Vipanchi Simha and Union Minister Pralhad Joshi.

Mysuru, Apr. 6 (BCT)- Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha met Prime Minister Narendra Modi at his office yesterday and invited him to inaugurate the International Yoga Day celebrations in Mysuru on June 21 this year. He was accompanied by Union Minister Pralhad Joshi, who facilitated the meeting.

In a press release, the MP has stated that he had highlighted the importance of Mysuru in spreading yoga far and wide.

"Famed for being the birthplace of Ashtanga Yoga, Mysuru is the perfect location to learn and practise this fairly dynamic form of yoga. Mysuru has a rich history of contributing to the preservation, development and promotion of yoga practices through the teachings of great personalities like Pattabhi Jois and others. Nowadays, tens of thousands of people across the globe are benefiting from the practice of yoga which is blossoming and growing more vibrant every day," the MP said in his request letter to the PM.

"Mysuru is a hub of learning, practising, and teaching yoga. Several renowned yogic scholars and gurus have established bases here and nurtured the art to reach global levels. Ever since the United Nations declared June 21 as the International Day of Yoga in 2015, Mysuru has been observing this day in a befitting manner, by mobilising tens of thousands of people from all walks of life to demonstrate social responsibility towards making a difference in the local community by creating a culture of wellness," Simha said.

"Mysuru created a world record in 2017 through the participation of over 55,506 people. The Mysuru District Administration, Nehru Yuva Kendra (Ministry of Youth Affairs & Sports, Govt. of India), Yoga networking organisations, NGOs, educational institutions and other inter-connected departments collaborated in this programme," he said inviting the Prime Minister.

Will it be 'Made in Mysuru' statue of Netaji at India Gate?

Mysuru, Apr. 6 (BCT)- The responsibility of carving the 30-ft statue of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose will be given to Mysuru-based sculptor Arun Yogiraj. This was confirmed by Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha in New Delhi yesterday.

Arun, who has got national and international recognition for sculpting, has already presented a 2-ft miniature statue of Netaji to the PM.

"The Prime Minister has confirmed that the project to carve the Netaji Statue in India Gate will be handed over to Arun Yogiraj," the MP told reporters in New Delhi. The official order to this effect will be issued soon, the MP added.

On the occasion of Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose's 125th birth anniversary, PM Modi announced in January this year that his statue will be installed at India Gate to honour his contribution to the independence movement. Until the installation is completed, a hologram of Netaji is now being projected at the site of the statue.

The statue, in black granite and the project, has been initiated by the Culture Ministry. Sculptor Arun Yogiraj told Star of Mysore that he will be meeting the senior officials from the Ministry of Culture today (Apr. 6) regarding the work order for the statue carving.

"I am requesting them to allow me to carve the Netaji statue in Mysuru only as it will be convenient for me and also, I want people to recognise the statue as 'Made in Mysuru work of art.' It will be a proud moment for Mysuru and Karnataka," he said.

Now the hologram has been installed under the canopy where a statue of King George V had stood till its removal in 1968.

Ex-servicemen asked to apply for sites instead of seeking land

Ex-servicemen, who have not been allotted agricultural land for lack of land availability in their respective taluks, can apply for residential sites of 2,400 sq.ft area in case of rural areas and 1,200 sq.ft in urban areas.

The prescribed form for applying for sites is available for free at the Department Office and eligible ex-servicemen of Mysuru district can apply along with all required documents by May 15, 2022, according to a press release from the Deputy Director of the Department.

Hic! Liquor shops run out of stocks

Glitches mar new online indenting system; wine merchants stage protest, submit memorandum

Mysuru, Apr. 6 (PM&BCT)- Amidst high demand for beer to beat the summer heat, liquor stores in Mysuru are running out of stocks. Even the Indian Made Liquor (IML) stocks are fast drying up much to the chagrin of wine merchants. They are blaming the new software that has been put in place by the Karnataka State Beverages Corporation Ltd. (KSBCL) for the shortage.

The Mysuru and Chamarajanagar Districts Wine Merchants Association members are staging a protest against the new system in front of the KSBCL depot at Hebbal today where they demanded immediate withdrawal of the new system and retain the old indenting system. The protesters submitted a memorandum to the KSBL depot manager Lokesh.

The KSBL introduced the new software on Apr. 4 (last Monday) where liquor stores and outlets had to purchase stocks online through a web-indenting method. However, the online system is full of technical glitches and store managers and staff were unable to place the indent. As such, till two days retailers somehow managed with existing stocks but now they are facing severe shortage of beer and IML.

As per the new web-indenting system, the indents have to be placed by liquor outlet managers or owners between 9 pm and 9 am for the stocks needed for the next day. Earlier, the merchants could place orders over phone manually and transfer the money to KSBCL depots through RTGS.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, President of Mysuru and Chamarajanagar Districts Wine Merchants Association S. Guruswamy said that while they were ready to welcome the new online system, the software has many glitches and the web-indenting process is cumbersome. The indents are placed at the KSBCL depots in the respective taluks and districts for IML and beer and procure the same.

"The indent has to be made between 9 pm and 9 am and every day 9 pm is the peak hour where there are the highest sales. At 10.30 pm we have to close shutters and it is not possible to place the indents. We could have accepted it if it was a smooth and user-friendly process. But the software is a tedious system and full of glitches," he added.

There is a severe shortage of beer and IML in Mysuru and Chamarajanagar as only 20 percent of the traders and retailers know how to work with the new system. The rest are suffering huge losses as retailers are not in a position to meet the customer demand, he added.

Guruswamy alleged that the old system was scrapped unilaterally without testing the new software or fixing bugs.

"We had requested the Excise Department to postpone the implementation for at least a month or so till the software is tested and till the merchants familiarise themselves with the new indenting. We also suggested a hybrid model where both systems could be used. But the department implemented hastily and today we are running out of stocks," General Secretary of Mysuru and Chamarajanagar Districts Wine Merchants Association R. Lakshman, who is also the Managing Director of True Spirits, said.

Driver killed, two others injured as borewell rig topples near Bogadi Ring Road

Mysuru, Apr. 6 (RK&KS)- The driver of a borewell rig was killed on the spot, while two others sustained serious injuries, when the borewell rig in which they were proceeding toppled near Bogadi Ring Road at about 9.30 am today.

While the deceased driver has been identified as Shanmugam (35), a resident of Tirupur in Tamil Nadu, the seriously injured are 20-year-old Somu and 35-year-old Muthuvelu. They have been admitted to a hospital in city.

According to sources, the speeding borewell rig, which was coming from Hinkal side, toppled after the driver lost control of the vehicle at a curve, opposite a petrol bunk near Bogadi junction. Due to the speed, the rig slid on the road for a distance and stopped after resting against a few neem trees on the median. But for the trees, the rig would have collided with a few motorists, which would have been fatal for the motorists.

Driver Shanmugam, who came to know that the rig would topple, tried to jump out of the rig, but the rig fell on him in the process, crushing him to death. It is learnt that the rig belongs to Sri Sai Rig Service.

K.R. Traffic Inspector Manjunath, Sub-Inspector Pooja and staff, rushed to the spot, conducted mahazar, shifted the body of Shanmugam to MMC&RI mortuary besides registering a case.

Cranes were summoned to the spot and the rig was cleared from the road.

Renovation of Rajendra Vilas Palace

"Rajendra Vilas Palace ran as a hotel from 1975 to 1995 and later it was closed and even my husband Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar passed away. We are now making an effort to restore the glory and we are renovating it in an as-is format without disturbing or altering the traditional and heritage aspect," Pramoda Devi Wadiyar said.

She clarified that the Rajendra Vilas Palace does not come under the heritage structure rule.

The domes of the Palace are 70 ft from the terrace and they have a diameter of 20 feet. It was white in colour earlier and the renovated structure will have the same colour and aesthetics.

"There are vast amounts of glasses which need delicate work and the floor work also is being taken up. The royal family will maintain the hotel once it starts functioning and there are no plans to give it out to a third party. Along with the structure, the approach roads will also be repaired on behalf of the SDNR Foundation," Pramoda Devi Wadiyar said.

Retain religious character of Chamundi Hill vicinity

Do not go against nature and alter it, Pramoda Devi appeals

Mysuru, Apr. 6 (RK&BCT)- On the sidelines of the press conference that was called by Pramoda Devi Wadiyar this morning, she mentioned about the concretisation of Chamundi Hill and called for minimising the constructions and retaining the place as a destination of religious significance and not as a place for commercial importance.

"It is a pious and sacred area where people come from all over the world to pray. I have no objections if facilities are provided to the devotees. But I do not approve of projects like the ropeway and steps to the railings. We need to oppose them in a legal way or by convincing the Government to shelve the projects. It is my personal opinion that the place must not be converted into a concrete jungle," she said.

In a slow and measured tone, Pramoda Devi said that places of so much of religious significance to Mysuru must be retained. "Chamundi Hill is easily accessible within 15 or 20 minutes by road and there is no need for a ropeway. We have been amply warned by a series of landslides. We cannot go against nature and we should not alter it. Again, this is my personal opinion," she said.

Reiterating her opinion on Lansdowne and Devaraja Market buildings, Pramoda Devi said, "Mysuru is a heritage city and people come from many places top see the heritage structures. But if you raze the heritage structures and construct heritage-like structures, there is no meaning for a heritage city. The His Highness Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar (SDNR) Foundation is ready to take up the renovation of Lansdowne and Devaraja Market if the Government takes a decision," she said.

"In the past too, the restoration experts and heritage artisans whom we had consulted have opined that both Lansdowne and Devaraja Market can be restored. I will leave this to the Government. In fact, we have completely renovated the Art Gallery at Jaganmohan Palace, two heritage wings of the Mysore Palace and the floor of the Bangalore Palace. Similarly, even the restoration of Lansdowne and Devaraja Market can be taken up to retain their heritage character," she added.

LOOKING BACK...

An old memory of Kyiv

A far-off memory of gold and green domes glittering atop white cathedrals, is now overshadowed by images of present day Kyiv; shattered apartment buildings, billowing smoke from missile strikes, courage in the face of devastation.

Posted to the Indian Embassy, Moscow, during the days of the erstwhile Soviet Union, my husband, A. Madhavan, and I planned a trip to the Ukraine. Our tour started with a visit to Odessa on the Black Sea. We saw the Potemkin Stairs, the symbol of Odessa city, made even more famous by the powerful, silent film "The Battleship Potemkin," by Sergei Eisenstein in 1925, which remains a cinematic classic to this day. The fourth sequence in the film depicts the massacre of citizens who supported the rebels on the battle ship. It also features the poignant scene of a pram with a young baby in it that tumbles down the steep steps. The mother fatally shot, is unable to save her infant.

From Odessa we travelled to Kyiv. From the window of our hotel we could see golden domes and spires above the foliage of the trees that lined the avenues. With nostalgia I recognised them as Horse chestnut trees. They grew around our home in London where we lived a few years and were called "Conker" trees by the English. With delicate white and pink blossoms, the trees are decorative but their nuts are not edible. The botanical name is Aesculus hippocastanum. Called "Kashtan" locally, it is the symbol of Kyiv. Many were planted in the 1830s for the visit of Tsar Nicholas 1st.

We were to visit the Saint Sophia Cathedral and the Catacombs, also called the Monastery of the Caves. "Pechersk Lavra" is a complex of monuments. On ground level are, among other edifices, the Holy Trinity church, the Great Bell Tower, the Dormition Cathedral and the Saint Sophia Cathedral, an UNESCO heritage monument. The Saint Sophia Cathedral survived a Soviet plan to break it down and convert the land into a park in the early years of the USSR. Now efforts are being made to safeguard this beautiful Cathedral, one of the 7 wonders of the Ukraine, from dangers of warfare.

Below the ground in Pechersk Lavra is a labyrinth of loess caves and catacombs. "Pechera" means cave. This Monastery of the Caves was established by "Theodosius" or "Antony of Kyiv" in 1051 as a centre of Eastern Orthodox Christianity. He chose to live in a cave at Berestov Mount near the Dnieper river and the monastery was founded in that area. Relics and the bodies of mummified monks have been set into embrasures in the walls over many years. There is a list in the museum of the names of famous saints interred there. The cool and equable temperature of the loess caverns helped to keep the bodies in a remarkable state of preservation.

Kyiv has endured warfare, including pitched battles, during the Second World War when Nazi forces invaded Ukraine. The Dormition cathedral was badly damaged during the fighting and restored later. An apocryphal story tells of German soldiers exhuming the mummies in the Lavra catacombs to throw them in the Dnieper river. However, it is said they were unable to mobilise their trucks to move the mummies and abandoned the project.

Our sightseeing trip to the Catacombs began after the standard Soviet breakfast; heavy on dairy, bread with slabs of butter, Smetana [sour cream] cheese, gherkins, oily preserved fish and meats. I cannot recall eating anything that could be called typically Ukrainian. Now some Ukrainian dishes, with their recipes, are available on the internet. I also remember feeling very hungry on the Aeroflot plane back to Moscow.

A light silk sari felt comfortable on the sunny streets of the Kyiv. But as we entered the Catacombs, the chill made me draw my pallu tightly around me. The passageways were narrow and twisting, the walls retaining their original rough shapes. Niches in the wall were cleverly illuminated with spotlights on relics or skulls; which startled me initially. In larger wall openings, mummies in their shrouds, were very clearly visible under special lights through sheer glass covers. The cavern was dim in general, only exhibits being highlighted. As the tunnel turned to the right it was dark; and out of the darkness rose a dark, cowled figure, holding out its arm towards us, stopping us in our tracks. An anonymous monk from the dim past? It was an elderly woman, a "Babushka" [grandmother] muffled against the cold in a hooded overcoat that reached to her ankles, who was wanting to check our tickets!

The antiquity of the Catacombs, the unknown monks who toiled there for hundreds of years and the force of their religious fervour, leaves an impact on visitors which was not dispelled on a return to the sunny streets of Kyiv that day; or for that matter, in sunny Yadavagiri NOW, so far away from Pechersk Lavra.
